

Harrogate Christmas & Gift News

Christmas countdown

With less than a week until the UK's favourite Christmas & Gift trade event, companies from around the world are arriving at the Harrogate International Centre putting finishing touches to their exhibition stands and promising a plethora of fabulous products for almost every celebratory occasion.

Not only Christmas trees and decorations, but ornaments and products for inside and outside the home, garden ware, flora, fancy dress and novelty items – in fact retailers and buyers are guaranteed to find a whole host of exciting new stock lines whatever sector they are in.

The Harrogate Christmas & Gift organising team are now in Harrogate, so should you need to contact them between now and 23rd January (including the fair open days) please call their mobiles – Simon Anslow on 07798 737077 or Adrian Sneyd on 07904 838963 or try the Organiser's office telephone number in Harrogate on 01423 537341.

Delightful Danish designs

Danish designer Jette Frolich is synonymous with light-hearted and exquisitely romantic Christmas decorations having created magical Christmas universes for prestigious design houses such as Royal Copenhagen, Georg Jensen and Holmegaard. Now in her own uniquely aesthetic way, Jette sets out to conquer the realm of functional everyday design which will be presented at Harrogate Christmas & Gift Fair.

Her new all-year collection includes wrapping paper and gift tags as well as tableware like fine porcelain cups, paper napkins and candles. The new products feature the poetic soft greyish colour scheme that has become a hallmark of Jette Frolich's designs – not only pleasing to the eye, but delightful to use too.

The new 2012 collection includes playful paper fairies and skating girls as well as charming new ways to make candlelight in porcelain a part of your ambient Christmas decorations and takes vines and wreaths to a new level.
