Hand-painted collectibles

Village pottery is one of Joe Davies' best-selling ranges and the Christmas collection is a particularly strong performer. Perfectly capturing the Christmas spirit the range consists of beautifully hand painted churches, cottages and even shops. Each is decorated with exquisite detail including wreaths, holly and other seasonal features and all have snowcapped roofs to give it that festive feel. The company will be launching a number of new additions as presenting their full Christmas collection on its spacious stand. The team looks forward to extending a warm welcome to customers old and new.
